

Paddington's Foggy Adventure

By 1B

One foggy day Paddington went for a walk around Paris. He got lost in the fog and he had to walk for a very long time. Paddington started to feel miserable and lonely. But then he looked up and he saw the Eiffel Tower in front of him. Next he saw a grumpy old man with a walking stick stood at the bottom of the tower. He asked the man for a ticket and began to go up the tower. When he got to the top he tried to see what was around and as he leaned over some naughty pigeon's grabbed his marmalade sandwich. He started to shoo them away but then he dropped his suitcase over the side of the tower. He ran down to the bottom as quickly as he could but it was broken! The old man saw what had happened and helped Paddington to fix his suitcase. He was shocked that the old man had helped him but was also very thankful.
