

Going To School During Lockdown

Currently there is a virus all around the world.

It is called Covid-19.

This means schools are shut to most people and it is very different for those people who do go to school.

In school children may not be able to go into all of the classrooms - some may be closed.

They will probably do some PE or other exercise.

Lessons won't look like normal lessons - so maths won't be a page of sums!

They do lots of making - maybe using clay, glue or paints

If the weather is reasonable they get to go outside quite a lot.

Lots of children get to use computers or iPads in school, sometimes this is for things like Times Table Rockstars, sometimes it is to make PowerPoints, sometimes they might even be just allowed to play for a little while.

If children are in school all day they get to eat their lunch - this is likely to be a packed lunch - if the weather is really nice they may be allowed to eat outside.

Because of the virus that is around they will have to wash their hands a lot.

They will also probably have to stay about 2m away from everyone else.

Even though you have to be a distance away it is still great to see your friends and do fun activities!
